CCAM Background

- CCAM was established by Presidential Executive Order in February 2004
- USDOT (FTA) chairs the Council
- Purpose was to break down the “silos” within the federal government to enhance access to transportation to improve mobility, employment opportunities, and access to community services for persons who are transportation-disadvantaged.

CCAM Goals and Tasks

- The goal of CCAM is to enhance access to transportation to improve mobility, employment opportunities, and access to community services for persons who are transportation-disadvantaged.
- The Council is tasked with seeking ways to simplify access to transportation services for persons with disabilities, persons with lower incomes, and older adults.
- The Executive Order requires that CCAM members work together to provide the most appropriate, cost effective services within existing resources, and reduce duplication to make funds available for more services.
